But if speaking again (from a fork in the tongue) (from a message restless as a single version of itself) (from Talmudic need), I offer this revisionist cookie:

Nature gave us one brain and two eyes, so we could see twice as far as we think.